Notes:

1. This registration certificate should be read in conjunction with the attached Quarry Registration Certificate Testing Frequency Schedule.
2. Departmental Quarry Registration indicates the following:
 - The source rock properties submitted are generally superior to those required in the relevant departmental technical specifications.
 - The quarry operator will at a minimum, carry out regular source rock testing at frequency levels listed on the attached registered Testing Frequency Schedule.
3. Quarry Registration does not guarantee ongoing product with relevant departmental technical specifications. This is because product properties can also be influenced by many day to day operational factors. These include extraction and production procedures, transportation and construction processes as well as source rock variability.
4. TMR Quarry Registration is conditional on quarry compliance with all relevant Federal, State and Local Government legislation.
